

PRICE
Three Cents

Daily Courier

Connellsville's Biggest and Best Newspaper. The Best Advertising Medium in the Yough Region.

VOL. 18, NO. 302.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 1, 1920.

WEATHER
Rain Probable

LEAGUE PLAN, AS A CAMPAIGN ISSUE, HAS NOT WORKED

People More Interested in Matters Relating to Affairs at Home.

EXCUSES OF DEMOCRATS

For Inefficiency in Administration of National Affairs Have Not Been Accepted; Cox Too Slow in Making His Attitude on "Wet" Issue Known.

By David Lawrence.
Copyright 1920 by The Courier.

After three articles analyzing the political situation throughout the country based upon a personal visit by the writer to most of the states from coast to coast during the last two months)

Special Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Just why the Democrats will lose the presidency may be hard for the staunch advocates of the League of Nations to understand, but anyone who got beneath the veneer of political oratory and propaganda of either party in this campaign and mingled with folks everywhere must have learned that after watching the wearisome debate in the United States Senate for more than a year, the country despaired itself only with difficulty in the last few weeks of the campaign on the League issue. For the experiment of a referendum on the League of Nations question, as a controlling influence with the voter, has worked only in spots.

The result in a few states will be attributable to feeling for or against the league but not many electoral votes will have been cast on account of the League. Massachusetts, with its large number of defections of Irish Democrats would have been Republican for other reasons. New York may be closer in the same category, but similarly New Jersey. As far as the losses to the Democrats of the German and Italian votes, these are not so much the effect of the league issue as the whole Wilson foreign policy in Europe. The groups of foreign born did take an interest in foreign questions. But the American people, as a whole, have, too, recently been plunged into the maelstrom of world politics to give preference to international affairs over domestic concerns.

It has been found difficult in this campaign to interest the average farmer, who is grieved over the fall in the price of wheat, in the merits of Article X. It is difficult to interest the business man in the possibilities of foreign trade under the League of Nations when he is worrying about the excesses of the excess profits tax at home. It is difficult to explain the important relationship between a stabilized Europe and expanded markets for American goods instead of turbulent Europe and cancelled orders because of lack of credit, when in the background of so many minds is the impression created by the constant hinting of the Republican party against the Wilson cabinet for its lack of interest in domestic reconstruction since the armistice.

The country does not accept the excuses offered by the Democrats for their inefficiency in their administration of national affairs. It looks coldly at the results. The Democrats say they could have done nothing on a reconstruction policy during the last four years because the Republican Senate and House blocked every bill but the real truth of the matter probably is that the breakdown in President Wilson's health left the Democrats without a leader and that with the mind of Mr. Wilson occupied with the treaty even before his physical collapse the Republicans managed to carry on a continuous offensive through their speakers in the House and Senate. That is what is winning the election. It is the writer's firm belief that the Republicans could have won the presidency this time without any organization on headquarters. The organization was cast when the nominations were made. The nation has been set for a change for a long time.

Governor Cox himself has been an incidental figure in the whole thing.

Continued on Page Four.

A LAST WORD TO VOTERS

To All Pennsylvanians:

On the eve of the most vitally important election in the State and Nation's history the Republican party of Pennsylvania makes confident appeal to the intelligence, loyalty and patriotism of the voters—both those who have long enjoyed and those who have recently acquired the right of franchise—fully assured they will discharge their duty as becomes citizens of the Imperial Commonwealth in the historical States.

Conscious as they are that the security and perpetuity of American institutions are more gravely menaced than at any time since the foundations of the Republic were laid, they will rise in their righteous might and demand by their votes the full and complete restoration in the national government of those principles, policies and practices which, until the blight of Democratic mis-administration, had made our government truly representative in character and America great, powerful and respected among the nations of the earth.

Aware that no staying hand has been effectively put forth to retard the dangerous trend toward socialism and radicalism in all their varied forms and degrees, but rather have been encouraged to permeate our social and national life, the citizenry of Pennsylvania—always a bulwark of the nation in every crisis—can be depended upon to emulate in 1920 what the State's eager, resolute and gallant sons did to save civilization and free government for the world in 1917-18.

Steadfastly, failing to consent to a surrender of the sovereignty and independence of the United States to an alien super-state in Europe, or to grant it authority to nullify the Constitutional rights and prerogatives of Congress, or to permit our wealth of blood and treasure to be employed at will in the protection of imperialism in Europe and Asia, the voters of Pennsylvania realize as never before the sacred and binding character of their obligations to the State and Nation.

No less do they appreciate the timeliness of the opportunity and the imperative duty to put a stop to prodigal expenditure and waste in the administration of national affairs; to take steps to liquidate the appalling war debt; to release the people from a burdensome, vicious, costly, penalizing and sectional system of direct taxation and suzerainty by a protective income from the billions of imports; to make a peace that will be lasting; to cut America loose from foreign entanglements and complications; to restore domestic happiness and tranquility to our people; to insure security of life, property, government and the privileges of citizenship; to safeguard the just rights of labor, capital, business, agriculture, and the manifold forms of industry; to secure fair treatment for the men who in periods of dire emergency donned the uniform of soldiers and sailors and offered themselves a willing sacrifice to sustain our country's honor and to divest the nation of autocracy in government and return it to the people from whom all authority comes.

To fulfill the obligations of the hour, and to do the thing needful in bringing to pass the great and over-riding purpose of the party to accomplish its destiny in the State and Nation, the duty to support and elect the full Republican National, State, Congressional and legislative tickets, becomes compelling. Not alone to make sure the election of Senator Harding to the Presidency, but to provide him with a supporting Senate and House of Representatives which will enable him to quickly, wisely and safely adjust and settle the grave foreign questions now pressing for action, and to carry into effect a truly constructive plan for the rehabilitation of commerce and industry and to give the country, from the thralldom of incompetency and inefficiency in administration, and to re-establish those "principles and beliefs" which are absolutely vital if the American Republic is to continue its triumphant course and the hopes of humanity, so bound up in the fortunes of the United States, are to be fulfilled.

As a heritage from Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and Roosevelt the Republican party of Pennsylvania has the peculiar privilege of doing a large part in restoring the government to the people and in making effective the guarantee that it shall indeed be a government of, by and for the people.

For a Republican to aid by his or her vote is more than a solemn duty. It is to have the consciousness of having assisted to preserve a Temple of Liberty that is "American in conception, American in the building, and shall be American in the fulfillment."

Yours sincerely,

W. E. Crow,
Republican State Chairman.

Philadelphia, Pa., October 30, 1920.

"Booze," Not the League, the Issue

In his sermon on "Taking God to the Polls," Rev. J. Earle Edwards, pastor of the Baptist church, declared last night that the League of Nations, extravagance of the present administration or other questions raised during the campaign, is not the big issue for the women of America to decide. The big issue is Booze.

It is for the women to say by their votes whether or no a "wet" Congress shall be elected that will so revise the Volstead Act as to nullify the 18th Amendment.

The Federal Prohibition Commissioner himself said, while in Connellsville, that such a revision would mean the end of Prohibition in America. Are the Christian women of Connellsville willing to make this thing possible to be done? That is the issue you must decide by your vote Tuesday."

Bribing of Election Boards BY DEMOCRATS HERE TUESDAY WILL BE DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Republicans Take Precautions to See That Election is Straight.

WOMEN NAMED WATCHERS

Authentic information of attempts of Democrat leaders to "buy up" the election boards in the city having come to this office this morning, steps have been made to take care of needs for Republican workers. Those from the First ward will eat at the Smith House, the Second ward at the Elks' club, the Fifth at the West Penn Tea Room, and the Sixth will be appointed watchers with the Seventh and Eighth will have their meals at the Hotel.

The Republican county organization is determined that it will do all possible to make the election tomorrow a clean one and to see that a true count is made. In addition to the watchers there will be a special committee of women which will visit the polls throughout the day.

The old method of slipping money at the polls and buying votes with it will be balked by the presence of women.

Sergeant has become the practice

COURIER WILL FLASH RETURNS OF ELECTION

Returns of the election will be flashed by The Courier tomorrow night on a screen placed against the Pittsburgh street side of the Second National Bank building. This will be made of the section occupied by Dr. R. S. McKeon for offices and the storefront will be placed on the Royal Hotel portion. The Courier will have continuous Associated Press service beginning at 7 o'clock and continuing until the results of the election are known. The bulletin will be flashed immediately after they come over the wire.

Father Brennan Urges

Votes Against League

The members of St. Alloysius Roman Catholic church of Dunbar were urged by their much respected pastor, Rev. T. J. Brennan, at the masses yesterday morning, to vote against the League of Nations.

"Vote for anyone against the league covenant as it now stands," was the advice given by Father Brennan to his parishioners. Supplementing that injunction he said:

"Be wary of the secret and cunning diplomacy of Europe. The people are deceived in thinking that Article X of the league covenant will bring peace and tranquillity to the nations, small and large. The present conduct of the English government in its ruthless reprisals on innocent women is in keeping with its past history in its relations to the Boers and the people of Egypt and India. Let them fight their own wars. They are always at war."

"Will we take away the power of Congress, or permit advocates of an English-drafted league to doze us so that we forget the counsel of our nation's founder, George Washington, to beware of European entanglements?"

"George, of course, is out of date in the new nationalism, but we must keep our hands clean and away from the secret disablling machinations. An association of nations, sincerely put down, and the meaning of its articles for the prevention of war satisfactorily explained and defined as to their meaning, will be formulated by the Republican party, as I understand it. When men like Lodge, Knox and Taft take this view it is good enough and safe enough for us in America."

"Vote for anyone against the league covenant as it now stands."

FINAL APPEAL TO WOMEN TO VOTE EARLY

By So Doing They Will Prevent Rush at Closing Hour on Tuesday.

WHERE TO CAST BALLOT

A final appeal to women to vote early was made today. With the number of voters about double that of the past there may be a last hour rush that will prevent many from casting their ballots should the women fail to turn out early in the day when many men who are at work cannot come. If this should result, women may be among those who will lose their vote.

The polls will open at 7 o'clock on Tuesday in the time they ordinarily meet in the evening.

Many girls employed in stores and offices will have time to vote between 7 o'clock and the time they ordinarily report for work at 8 o'clock.

The injunction to vote early is also given to the men. Experience has shown that there is always a rush during the closing hour in elections in which there is great interest, as is the case this fall.

The word polling places are:

First—Sample room in Ordway's

Second—In rear of Smith House.

Third—Room in rear portion of J. E. Shaw's undertaking establishment.

Fourth—MacCabe building, East Crawford avenue.

Fifth—Baer's garage, now Baer's mill, dep't, Vine street.

Sixth—Polish school building, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Seventh—West Side municipal building.

YOUNG MAN SOON TO BE MARRIED IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Niner P. Sherman, Winchester, Va., died soon after wheels of freight train sever his legs.

On his way to his home near Winchester, Va., from Alliance, O., after a visit to his sweetheart, Niner P. Sherman, 20 years old, was fatally injured Sunday shortly before noon by falling under the wheels of a freight train near South Connellsville. He was to have been married in December, a letter found on his person indicated.

Sherman was in company with a cousin, Frank A. Funk, who was on his way to Harrisburg, Pa. They missed their train here and planned to board a freight for Cumberland and get their baggage which had gone ahead on the train they were to have taken. The accident happened near the east end of the stockyards. Funk successfully boarded the train, but as he looked back he saw his companion dragged by the train and then flung over an embankment. Leaping from his place on the car and hurrying back, Funk found his companion's both legs severed between the knee and the hip.

Funk called help from the Captain Glass company and the injured youth was carried there and given first aid while awaiting the arrival of the ambulance. At the hospital it was learned the members of the young man's family were Baptists and Rev. J. Earle Edwards, pastor of the First Baptist church, was called. Sherman died just before the minister reached the hospital.

The body was removed to Shaw's undertakers.

Sherman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Sherman, who live on a farm 10 miles from Winchester. He and his companion had been employed near Alliance. Funk went to Winchester to break the news to the parents.

School Board Meets.

School board met this morning and transacted routine business.

Weather Forecast

Rain is probable tonight and Tuesday; colder. The noon weather forecast for Western Pennsylvania.

Temperature Record.

1920 1919

Maximum 62 70

Minimum 40 62

Mean 51 65

The Yough river fell during the night from 1.25 feet to 1.20 feet.

TREMENDOUS G. O. P. RALLY AT SOMERSET

Opera House and Court-house Inadequate, Overflow Gatherers in Diamond.

FIVE THOUSAND IN THRON

Republican enthusiasm in Somerset county was demonstrated Saturday night when 5,000 people filled the opera house, the court house and the diamond to hear speakers and they closed the campaign for the Republican ticket in that county. Women turned out in large numbers. According to a prediction from Republican Headquarters of that county, Congressman Samuel A. Kendall will carry Somerset by a majority of over 6,000 to 8,000.

Speakers included Mayor E. V. Edcock of Pittsburgh; Peter Glick and Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, also of Pittsburgh; Judge Francis J. Koser of Somerset and Congressman Kendall.

The gathering had been scheduled for the opera house but it soon became evident that this would not hold all. The court house was reserved for women and 1,000 found places there. Then the overflow was directed to the diamond.

There were three bands out and the enthusiasm displayed by the crowd was highly demonstrative of the way the county will swing next Tuesday. "Practically everything will be straight Republican ticket," said D. B. Zimmerman, who telephoned the report to The Courier.

The women were addressed by Mrs. Ramsey and then Glick spoke to them on the League of Nations. In order that all three meetings would have an opportunity to hear the messages of the speakers, they were taken from one place to another as they completed their addresses.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN TAKING AN ACTIVE PART IN CAMPAIGN

Committees Working in Each of the Seven Wards of the City to Get Out the Vote.

Women Republican workers will end a hand tomorrow to see that the voters get to the polls. Committees of women under the direction of executive body headed by Mrs. W. O. Schoonover, will be active during the campaign and they will continue their work to the last hour of voting. The makeup of this body of workers is:

Executive committee—Mrs. W. O. Schoonover, chairman; Mr. Edna Johnston Brindel, assistant chairman; Mrs. J. French Kerr, secretary.

First ward—Mrs. H. C. Hays, chairman; Mrs. C. S. Hurner, Mrs. W. L. Wright, Mrs. J. Hall Speer, Mrs. S. R. Goldsmith, Mrs. James S. Darr, Mrs. Harry Dull, Mrs. Mary Lou Rueh, Mrs. Joseph Rilling, Mrs. B. B. Smith, Miss Rose Donegan and Miss Ethel Dunn.

Second ward—Mrs. R. C. Lyon, chairman; Miss Charlotte Hay, Miss Laura Hay, Miss Adrienne Solson, Miss Anna Donnelly, Mrs. T. B. Donnelly, Mrs. J. J. Doyle, Miss Elsie Weise and Mrs. Mary Friel.

Third ward—Mrs. Pearl Behanna, chairman; Miss Emma Hale, Miss Elizabeth Kincaid, Mrs. Ruth Munson, Mrs. Alice Paisley, Mrs. Edie Stillwagon, Mrs. Alice Bengal, Mrs. Rose Shaw, Mrs. Alice Washington, Mrs. Samie Wells, Mrs. Alice Rogers, Mrs. Edie Shank and Miss Bertha Cunningham.

Fourth ward—Mrs. C. Minnie Chapman, Mrs. A. E. Vining, Mrs. P. R. Weinert, Mrs. T. R. Francis, Mrs. F. W. Wright, Miss Lulu Shaw, Mrs. Josephine Reid, Mrs. J. B. Hogg, Mrs. L. M. Reynolds, Miss Beulah Gilmore, Mrs. W. H. Showman, Mrs. Jennie Dickson, Mr. Arlie Herbert, Mrs. J. Harvey Hoover and Miss Mary Gill.

Fifth ward—Mrs. J. C. Whittaker, chairman; Mrs. H. M. Kerr, Miss Catharine Campbell, Mrs. W. P. Clark, Miss Harriet Clark, Mrs. D. M. Dilworth, Mrs. O. R. Carpenter, Mrs. C. W. Dowds, Mrs. W. R. Clasper and Mrs. William Benscher.

Sixth ward—Mrs. C. W. Ulm, chairman, and six assistants.

Seventh ward—Mrs. R. S. McKee, chairman; Mrs. Johnnie Robinson, Mrs. Florence Moore, Mrs. Cyrus Stoner, Mrs. Alex Hart, Miss Grace Robinson, Miss Lynne B. Kincaid, Mrs. E. Dugger and Mrs. Emily Preston.

SOLICIT FOR SHAW FUND

Mrs. Anna Bratton Chairman, Daughters of the American Revolution, names Ad

Society

Shower for Mrs. Roth.

Mrs. Bowman Roth of Uniontown has returned home after a visit with her mother, Mrs. Clara Ganger of Eastview avenue. While staying with Mrs. Roth, who before her marriage was Miss Annaette Ranker, she attended a surprise and miscellaneous shower at the Ranker home by a number of her friends. She received many presents and useful gifts. The evening was spent in a very delightful social manner. Delightful refreshments were served.

Somerset Couple Weds.

May Raymond Ankney of Somerset, blacksmith, and Mary Etta Gearhardt, also of Somerset, were granted license to wed in Cumberland.

Marriage Announced.

The marriage of Miss Grace Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Miller, and P. J. Paige of Uniontown was celebrated in Pittsburgh October 21. Previous to her marriage the bride was a clerk in the Wright-Metzler store in Uniontown.

DeBolt-Appleby.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Leona Kerr DeBolt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Petty DeBolt of Uniontown, and Albert Edgar Appleby, also of Uniontown. The ceremony was solemnized in Morgantown, W. Va.

Fancywork Club to Meet.

The Greenwood Ladies' Fancywork club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mary Blakemore in South Sixth street, West Side.

Aid Society to Meet.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist Protestant church will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church.

Guests at Party.

James Reed of Dunbar, Mrs. H. B. Cunningham and daughters, Bertha McIlroy, of Connellsville were guests at a party given Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Chaney at her home in Uniontown in honor of the third birthday anniversary of her son Harry.

Lee Elks Lodge Meeting.

Members of Lee Elks lodge will meet Thursday afternoon instead of Tuesday.

Athens Temple Meeting.

Athens Temple of the Pythian Sisters will meet Tuesday evening.

Presbyterian Meetings.

The Deborah Bible class of the First Presbyterian church will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edith Kerr in Washington avenue. The Woman's Missionary society will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the church. Persons having not turned in their mite boxes are asked to bring them to the meeting or to hand them to Mrs. J. H. Weiss.

Dienes-Proulx.

Miss Elizabeth Dienes and Guy D. Proulx, a well known couple of South Connellsville were married last night at 7:30 o'clock at the South Connellsville Evangelical parsonage. Rev. J. O. Bishop the pastor, officiated. For the present Mr. Proulx and his bride will reside in South Connellsville.

Friendship Temple to Meet.

Friendship Temple No. 25 Pythian Sisters will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Odd Fellows' hall, in East Crawford avenue, the new place of meeting. The lodge will meet hereafter on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Scottsdale John's Prayer Campaign.

We are starting now and we are going after you to the limit, are the words of the message Rev. J. Earle Edwards has received from the Scottsdale Baptist church relative to the oratorical campaign started two weeks ago by four Baptist churches of Western Pennsylvania. The Connellsdale We church stands third in the list of up to date, the Keperville church, Pittsburgh, leading Homestead and McKeesport.

Hause-Poltz.

Miss Florene M. Hause and Harry W. Poltz of Dunbar were quietly married at the First Methodist Protestant parsonage in Uniontown Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. E. F. Hawkins, the pastor, officiated.

P. H. C. Meeting.

The Protected Home Circle will meet Tuesday evening at Carnegie Hall. A large class will be initiated and final arrangements will be made for the fifth circle degree to be held November 5 when Supreme President A. C. McLoud will pay "Muster" visit.

to Connellsville to visit Liberty Circle No. 420. Mrs. Margaret Martimer of Edie street will be installed as accountant.

Maccabees Women to Meet.

The regular meeting of the Womans' Benefit association of the Maccabees will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Odd Fellows' hall.

Birthday Party for Mrs. Myer.

Mrs. Louis Myer was tendered a surprise party yesterday afternoon at her home at Adelaide in honor of her 68th birthday anniversary. About 30 of her friends were present to assist in celebrating the happy event. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. Kleebach, Mr. and Mrs. Rossi, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill of South Connellsville and Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson Run and Joe Myer of Duquesne.

Honeymooners Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reish, who were married Sunday at Somerset, are in Connellsville on their honeymoon as guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Reynolds of Race street. Mrs. Reish was formerly Miss Elizabeth Dillon of Somerset.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Edward Leckemy of the West Side was the guest of friends at Smithfield today.

The best place to shop after all Brownell Shoe Company—Adv.

Mrs. J. G. Percy of East Apple street went to Pittsburgh this morning.

Earl Alexander of Westerport, Md., was the guest of his aunt, Mrs. J. H. Beagle, of McCormick avenue yesterday.

Buy genuine Edison Mazda Lamps. Frank Sweeney, 100 South Pittsburg street—Adv.

John Murtha and daughter, Adeline, and son, Francis, of Mount Pleasant were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Muntha of Ligonier yesterday.

Very attractive delicates if made on an Electric Toaster. Get one from Frank Sweeney, 100 South Pittsburg street—Adv.

Mrs. H. P. Snyder and daughter, Katherine, who have been in Atlantic City for over two weeks, arrived home this morning. Mrs. Corinne V. Borland of McKeesport, who accompanied them, will visit in Washington, D. C. before returning home.

For piano tuner call Peter R. Weimer's Piano Store, Connellsville evenings. Bell 1083—J-Adv-15-tf.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Smith of Uniontown returned home today from a trip to New York and Atlantic City spending the weekend at the latter place. Other well known Uniontown residents who are sojourning at Atlantic City are Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. John Strawn and Mrs. John M. Core and daughter, Miss Isabel.

For the best and cheapest repairs on that roof, conductor or spouting, call F. T. Evans—Adv.

Mrs. J. E. Dougherty of East Cedar ave., a guest of Miss J. P. O'Malley, wife of Controller O'Malley of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Baltimore, spent the day in Pittsburgh. Mrs. O'Malley will return home this evening.

We wish to announce that we are exclusive agents for the Hammond Typewriter. This machine represents the latest achievement in visible writing machines, and is instantly interchangeable for all types and all languages. This machine is guaranteed against all defects of workmanship and material for five years. Keister's Book Store 117 W. Apple street—1-3t.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Cochran were the guests of relatives at Dawson yesterday.

At the right of the picture a little velvet hat indulges in an abbreviated tam crown and contents itself with a silk cord for trimming on the upward

ALCO the pasteurized NOT BUTTER

LET US register the name on your mind, and ALCO will register the taste for itself.

W.M. Myer

Millinery in Miniature

MILLINERY for small girls includes many pressed shapes, of beaver or felt and some "made" hats—that is hats of fabrics placed over frames and usually made by hand. The shapes are simple and childish and among the milliner-made hats there are small replicas of a few of the shapes worn by grown-ups with finishing touches that make them eminently miniaatures of the headwear which they are patterned after. But the group of hats for small girls shown here is a little different from either of these classes—it contains made hats that are characteristically child-like in shape and finishing.

Velvet and velvet play as important a part in children's hats as in any other. At the top of this group a round shape with upturned brim is covered with velvet and the brim decorated with two rows of fancy silk braid. It has for trimming a silk tassel that dangles from a cord fastened to the top of the crown, but otherwise left free to dance about as it will. The top crown is soft, the side crown plaited and the brim plain in the hat at the left, finished with a bias band of velvet. Heavy wool yarn is button-holed to the brim-edge and two small wool pompons nestle together at the front of the crown, poised against a band of ribbon that is finished with a flat bow at the back.

At the right of the picture a little velvet hat indulges in an abbreviated tam crown and contents itself with a silk cord for trimming on the upward

SCARFET AND CRIMSON.

In preparation for the anticipated carmine revival in dress, much scarlet and crimson is being used on shoes.

TEA ROOM SOLD

Miss Marie Young Retires After Eight Years in Business.

Miss Marie Young has sold the West Penn Room, one of the leading restaurants of the city, to Miss Frances Peters of Moore, the new owner taking charge on last Friday. The many patrons of the tea room will learn with regret of Miss Young's disposal of the business, which she so successfully has conducted for over eight years. On Wednesday she will leave for a visit to her former home in East Providence, R. I. and later will return to Connellsville where she expects to continue to reside.

Miss Peters will conduct the tea room along the same line as the former owner.

Rabbit Election Day.

WASHINGTON Nov. 1.—Rain on election day in the Atlantic states the upper Ohio valley and the region of the Great Lakes was forecast today.

The accident happened along the Cunningham road near Watersburg.

REURNS AT Y. M. C. A.

Motion Pictures Will Also be Shown

Election Night.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges in indoor or outdoor sports should keep a jar of Resino ready to relieve the chafing or friction rash so often produced by overheating the blood. It cools the inflamed spots, stops the itching and burning and restores the skin to its normal condition.

Resino Ointment and Resino Soap are specially prepared for your complexion. Your druggist sells them.

Everyone who indulges

NEWSY NOTES TELL
WHAT'S HAPPENING IN THE MILL TOWN

Ballot Explained and Libracy Discussed at Women's Mass. Meeting.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR LATTER

Long List of Prizes For Hallowe'en Celebration Tonight and Prospect Is For Best Observance of Kind in Town's History; Other News.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTTDALE, Nov. 1.—The mass meeting for women held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening was a decided success. The meeting was non-partisan, and was for the purpose of explaining the ballot to women who would vote on Tuesday. It was arranged after repeated requests from women who wished the ballot explained. Mrs. J. E. Steelsmith presided.

Rev. J. E. Hutchinson presented the library question. Every woman at the meeting seemed enthusiastic over the prospect of being able to vote to keep the library.

The only persons who did not seem interested in the library were persons who have libraries of their own, both of fiction and reference books and these persons will not be interested because of the added cost on the taxes.

Mrs. James Pools explained the ballot.

Students Entertained.

The junior class of the high school entertained the freshmen, sophomores and seniors at a masquerade party in the high school building Friday evening.

Reception For M. E. Pastor.

A reception will be held for Rev. Judson Jeffries and his family at the Methodist Episcopal church on next Friday evening. Rev. Jeffries is the new pastor of the Methodist church.

Hallowe'en Parade Tonight.

Still more prizes are being added for this evening's parade to be held in Scottdale and are on exhibition in the Ferguson furniture company store window. With good weather 'this promises to be the largest celebration ever held in Scottdale.'

Prices Down.

To old-time levels, but up stays quality. Thousands of fall garments at record low prices. The time to buy is now, the time to save is now. A thorough demonstration of lower ladies' and children's clothing costs. Prices the lowest that have been quoted in five years! You will save most by buying here. The Anniversary Sale continues but the days more. It is a sale of sales. A sale to make friends, no money. A sale that will again prove Bendiner's leaders in the downward movement. Manufacturers sacrifice profits and slashed prices—so did we—all to make this the greatest of sales. Come! The savings will amaze you. Bendiner's, as you get off the car. Scottdale—Adv.

Personal News.

Miss Ethel Collins was hostess to the Trix club at her home here on Saturday. Hallowe'en decorations were used. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clark Farmer spent the weekend with friends at Johnstown.

Mrs. Sam B. Baugher of North Adams, Mass., returned to her home today after spending three weeks at the home of her brother, P. T. Glenn of Brownsville.

PARENTS OF WEAK.

Alling Children Will Be Interested In This Letter.

A mother writes: "My little girl was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. Vinol was recommended—it built up her strength and made her healthy, so now she romps and plays like other children and is robust and cosy."

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the very elements needed to create red corpuscles in the blood, quicken the circulation, increase the appetite and soon strength and vitality is imparted to every part of the body.

The Laughey Drug Co., our leading druggists, will refund your money if it fails to help you—Adv.

Salt-Kelant Home Doctors.

These women are called who all over the broad land make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and relies upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these rec'nes, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successfully has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside—Adv.

Mount Pleasant Man Buys.

Frank C. Johnston of Mount Pleasant has purchased a property in Mount Pleasant township from the Greensburg Building & Loan association for $400.

Scottdale Property Sold.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Hansell of Scottdale sold a property at Scottdale to J. K. Craig of Fayette county. The consideration was $5,500.

Renews Strength!

Where there is need for a building-up tonic after prostrating illness,

SCOTT'S EMULSION

taken regularly, usually speeds renewed strength and vigor.

Want to Feel Just Right?

Take an NR Tonight

JUST TRY IT AND SEE how much better you feel in the morning. That "sooey" headache, tired, don't know what's the matter feeling will be gone—you'll feel fine.

TROUBLE IS, your system is clogged with a lot of impurities that your over-worked digestive and eliminative organs can't get rid of. Oil, salts, carbon and other materials, clogging and purges only force the bowels and tax the liver.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and even kidneys, not forcing, but toning and strengthening these organs. The result is prompt relief and real, lasting benefit. Make the test. Nature's Remedy will act promptly, thoroughly, yet so mildly, so gently, that you will think nature herself has come to the rescue and is doing the work.

And oh, what a relief! You'll feel how much better you feel—brighter, better every way. If headache or headache continues, take one NR Tablet each night for a week. Then take one NR Tablet each day. Just an occasional NR Tablet after that will be enough to keep you in good condition—keep you feeling your best.

Get a 25¢ Box
SOLD GUARANTEED
and recommended by your druggist

NR TO-NIGHT-
Tomorrow Alright
Get a 25¢ Box

CONNELLSVILLE DRUG CO., Connellsville, Pa.

Ohioopyle.

OHIOOPYLE, Oct. 30.—The Misses Rohr of Farmington were callers here Thursday.

Mrs. Ray Whipple and son, Edwin, of Kinnelon, N. J., were spending a few days with relatives here.

Sylvester Crothers of Dickerson Run is spending a few days at his home near here.

Use our classified advertisements.

The Ladies' Aid entertainment held in the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday evening was well attended and greatly enjoyed by those present.

The members of th Ladies' Aid were dressed in the style of '76 and all had a good laugh at the change of style.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey and James Bailey left last evening for Cumberland, Md., to spend a short visit.

Patronize those who advertise.

A Sure Cure
for your Wants is the use of our classified column. Try it.

WHEN A MAN IS NERVOUS—WORRIED

Most women neglect their health, and for this they pay the penalty. Any woman who will make an effort does not just a little more attention to health would brighten up her life. If she asks her neighbors she finds that Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription benefits a woman's whole health. It not only acts upon the troubles and weaknesses peculiar to women, but is an all-round tonic that braces the entire body, overcoming nervousness, sleeplessness, headaches, dizziness and a run-down condition.

WILKES-BARRE, PA.—"A few years ago I went down in health; my nerves were bad and I became very weak and thin and would have severe pains in my head. I also suffered with backaches. I could not sleep at night I was so nervous, and was not able to do any work. I doctorred and took medicines but could find nothing that would give me any relief until I began taking Dr. Pierce's favorite Prescription and this completely restored my health. I regained my weight and my general health was much better than it had been previously. Knowing how beneficial this 'Prescription' was in my case I feel safe in recommending it."—Mrs. MARY SWARTWOOD, 122 Stanton St.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"THE MUTINY OF THE ELSINORE"—One of the late Jack London works, is a splendid attraction today and will also be shown tomorrow. A touring comedy is also included.

THE BIG new Metro production, with an all-star cast, presents the London novel in all the grim power of its conception, portraying, as it does, the conflict of a group of gunmen who attempt to take over control of the good ship "Elsinore" on her voyage round the Horn, and the pistol and rifle battle that ensues between the gangsters and the ship's officers.

The story is one of thrilling suspense and ripe with situations that make the nerves tingle with the excitement of impending danger. Written by the master hand of the late Jack London, the novel from which the picture is taken constitutes one of the best of the dead author's most celebrated works.

"CAP" STUBBS

Out to-day

November Victor Records are Here

Victor pre-eminence is again demonstrated in the list of November records. You find here the world's greatest music by the famous artists in wide enough range to suit all tastes. We will be pleased to play any of these records in our sound-proof rooms.

Popular Songs

	Number	Size	Price
I'm Love to Fall Asleep and Wake Up in My Mammy's Arms	Henry Burr	18692	10 85
I'll Be With You in Apple Blossom Time	Charles Harrison	18693	10 .85
My Little Bimbo Down on the Bamboo Isle	Lillian Stanley	18691	10 .85
The Broadway Blues	Lillian Stanley	18692	10 .85
Waiting For the Sun to Come Out	Lambert Murphy	15199	10 1.00
I Cannot Sleep Without Dreaming of You	Lambert Murphy	15200	10 1.00
Drowsy Baby	Olive Kline-Elsie Baker	15200	10 1.00
In the Afterglow	Elsie Baker	15200	10 1.00

Dance and Instrumental

Whispering—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman's Ambassador Orch.	18690	10 .85
Japanese Sandman—Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman's Ambassador Orch.	18691	10 .85
Avalon—Medley Fox Trot	Paul Whiteman's Ambassador Orch.	18692	10 .85
Best Ever—Medley One Step	Paul Whiteman's Ambassador Orch.	18693	10 .85

Red Seal Records

By the Waters of Minnetonka	Frances Alda	64908	10 1.25
Trovatore—Stride la vampa! (Fierce Flames Are Soaring)	Gabrielle Beszonyi	64875	10 1.25
Ever of Thee I'm Fondly Dreaming	Sophie Braslaw	64883	10 1.25
A Granada (To Granada)	Eurico Caruso	88623	12 1.75
Nocturne (Grieg-Ellman)—Violin	Milcha Elman	74843	12 1.75
Clavelitos (Carnations)	Amelia Galli-Curci	64904	10 1.25
When Your Ship Comes In	Orville Harrold	64909	10 1.25
Fedora—Amor ti vieta di non amar (My Love Compels Thy Love)	Edward Johnson	64905	10 1.25
Chanson Indone (From "Sadko")—Violin	Fritz Kreisler	64890	10 1.25
Thank God For Garden	John McCormack	64000	10 1.25
Prelude in G Major (Rachmaninoff)—Piano	Sergei Rachmaninoff	74645	12 1.75
Zaza—Zaza, piccola zingara (Zaza, Little Gypsy)	Renato Zanelli	64907	10 1.25

Nearly Everybody in Connellsville—

Buys Victor Products at Aaron's

Order Your Victrola
Now for Christmas

Both Phones Connellsville, Pa.

THE ORPHEUM.

"38 EAST"—From the stage play by the same name, with Constance Binney giving the role of Penslope Poult, the charming lead star, in the leading role, supported by a cast of prominent players, is being presented today and will also be shown tomorrow. A selected comedy is also included. "38 East" is a boarding house, shabbily genteel, and the scenes therein are about the best comedy we have seen in many a day. The inmates of the house include the usual types, the gushing lady who has seen better days, and won't let anybody forget it; the tart splasher, the jaunty salesman, the sentimental sisters, the star boarder, the over-suspicious landlady—and the aforementioned girl, not the fast little "chicken" variety, nor yet the coyly sweet, idiosyncratic innocent girl, but a ladylike, demure, sensible, sweet, wholesome girl, a girl who is typical of thousands of clean-minded girls of America, with a fine sense of humor, no silly affectation, and a sturdy purpose to support. No finer characterization or American girlhood has ever been facets of a diamond. Next she is seen tricked into a marriage with a man she quickly comes to loathe. Splendid indignation is next expressed over false accusation and finally right triumphs, but in a most unusual way. Miss Joyce is supported by a capable cast.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE PREY"—A sensational story of tangled lives, featuring Alice Joyce, the beautiful screen star, in the leading role, and a selected comedy are being shown today. Both attractions will be repeated tomorrow.

"The Prey" Miss Joyce first appears as a charming girl, radiantly happy in her health and the spirit of youth. Then she displays the delight of a maiden in love and just engaged. Swiftly her mood is changed by circumstances to horror and misery, blended under a pitiful mask of scorn which she tries to assume. Fear for her happy-go-lucky brother follows glee over the death of her father. Her shifting emotions are as the CONNELLSVILLE WELDING CO.

Welding and Braising of all kinds regardless of shape or size. Carbon Arc Welding. Emergency Work promptly attended to.

312 E. Apple Street
Both Phones Connellsville, Pa.

The Daily Courier

HENRY P. SNYDER,
Founder and Editor, 1879-1916
THE COURIER COMPANY,
Publishers
K. M. SNYDER
President
JAMES J. DISCOLA,
Secretary and Treasurer, Business Manager
JOHN L. GANS
Managing Editor
WALTER H. SCHMIDT
City Editor
MISS LYNN B. KINCELL
Society Editor

Entered as second class matter at the post office, Connellsville, Pa.

CHAMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for re-publication of all the news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper other than the local news published herein.

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 1, 1920.

A DUTY NO REPUBLICAN CAN EVADE

Through the party organizations, the newspapers and platform speakers the issues of the campaign have been presented to the people. From first speeches of acceptance and subsequent utterances the attitude of the respective candidates has been made known. To a larger degree than in previous campaigns the people have had opportunity to know informed human thought before being able to determine what is their duty when they go to the polls tomorrow.

Notwithstanding all the effort put forth in the campaign nothing has yet been settled except the conviction of a vast majority of the voters that there must be a restoration of the Republican party to the control of the national government in both its executive and legislative branches. In order to bring about this change no Republican can evade his or her responsibility to have a part in making "the great and solemn referendum" truly and conclusively to represent the sober judgment and the expressed will of the people.

In the crisis confronting the country an apathetic, home-staying, non-voting citizen becomes the enemy of good government. He or she cannot be indifferent in the hour when the honor and welfare of the whole country is at stake.

"To fulfill the obligations of the hour," says State Chairman W. F. Cow in his last word to the voters, "and to do the things needful in bringing to pass the great and over-riding cause of our party to accomplish its destiny in the state and nation, the election of a candidate who will support and elect the full Republican national, state, congressional and legislative ticket, becomes imperative. Not alone to make sure the election of Senator Harding to the presidency, but to provide him with a supporting Senate and House of Representatives."

An inheritance from Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and Roosevelt the Republican party of Pennsylvania has the peculiar privilege of doing a large part in restoring the government to the people and in making effectual the guarantee that it shall indeed be a government of, by and for the people.

"For a Republican to aid by his or her vote is more than a solemn duty. It is to have the consciousness of having assisted to preserve a temple of liberty that is 'American in conception, American in the building and shall be American in the fulfillment.'

Harding Wants And Needs Kendall

Uniontown Herald

When you vote for Harding tomorrow, you vote to bring back our government at Washington into normal channels; to replace instability with stability; to uphold integrity at the White House; with cooperation; to put an end to black-jacking business and roving enterprise; to re-establish policies that have the inspiration of American purpose and American principles as we had them rooted in our pristine traditions and glorious constitutions.

But in voting for Harding in the expectation that this much desired program of reconstruction will be carried out, by him bear in mind this statement made by Senator Harding in Cleveland last week:

"I do not believe to be President unless a Republican Congress is also elected to translate American promise into performance."

Realize the significance of Senator Harding's comment and then vote to give him that support to which he is entitled. Let your vote be for the straight Republican ticket. If you want Harding for President, Harding in turn wants Samuel A. Kendall and not Bruce F. Sterling as the representative from this, the 23rd Congressional district.

LIFE'S SPLENDOR.

There is so much of laughter on the earth,
So much that's tenderly gentle, fine and true,
That all the hate and bitterness men do feel, and all the sorrow chilling joy and mirth,
Are lost to memory when the skies grow blue.

One statistic in horror for a little while,
This takes its victims 'only' from the feet.
With this exception when a friend's untrue,
But here and there the human heart is filled with pain and shame—our hearts grow old again.

And gladness sets all honest eyes aglow.

If truth and facts be vilification, then is Bruce Sterling his own defamer.

See our classified advertisements.

The Question Women Must Answer by Their Votes

The Women of America, of whom the Mothers, Wives and Daughters of Connellsville, Fayette county and the 23rd Congressional District are a part, have the weightiest obligation resting upon them they have ever been called upon to discharge.

In the election tomorrow, the first in which the women of all states will participate, they have the opportunity to determine whether the national Prohibition policy is to become a farce or remain a reality. To decide if the prayers, toil and sacrifices of the past years to secure this boon to America shall have been uttered or given in vain.

It is not a question of politics, or who shall be the next President. That is settled. It is a deeper, more vital and more fundamental question that has been only partly settled. A question the answer to which will reach out into the years to be, and affect the lives and happiness of the maturing and all coming generations, to bless or to curse according as it is answered rightly or wrongly.

The 18th Amendment is no more self-enforcing than any that have preceded it. The amendment itself has merely established a standard to which all home-loving, saloon-hating mothers, wives and daughters, and all other good, patriotic, loyal and God-fearing citizens of both sexes are under moral obligation to adhere.

The liquor interests never intended, and do not intend, to observe this standard voluntarily. The enactment of enforcement legislation therefore became necessary. The last session of Congress passed such a law, known as the Volstead Act. Congress alone has power to amend this act and this it may do by the majority vote of a single member who is in sympathy with the liquor interests.

It being the admitted purpose and intent of the liquor interests of the United States to elect a "wet" Congress, their success in that direction would be very shortly followed by a proposal to amend the Volstead Act. If this takes the form of making the act less stringent, such as raising the alcoholic content of intoxicating beverages to the point where the 18th Amendment would be nullified, or permitting the manufacture of light wines and beer, nothing but the votes of "dry" members of Congress who are unalterably opposed to such legislation, could prevent its enactment. If the alcoholic content is thus raised the Supreme Court of the United States cannot, as has been incorrectly claimed, step in and prevent such a tragedy to the cause of national Prohibition.

Even if the Supreme Court reverses its own ruling that Congress has the power to define intoxicating liquor, and on the ground that a definition authorizing an alcoholic content large enough to nullify the 18th Amendment would be unconstitutional, the court could not then compel Congress to give a definition that, in the court's opinion, would be constitutional.

In brief, a "wet" Congress could repeat the existing "one-half of one per cent" definition clause by striking it out altogether and refuse to supply anything in its stead.

An enforcement code thus denuded of a definition of the alcoholic content would render the 18th Amendment quite as useless as it would be were the alcoholic standard made as high as that used in liquor manufacture before Prohibition became effective.

Aware, as you must be, that your vote for a known "wet" candidate for Congress, will contribute to making such a condition possible, are you, mothers, wives and sisters of Connellsville, ready and willing to assume the consequences of your act!

If Prohibition enforcement is by this means annulled one certain and inevitable result will be—not the re-establishment of the licensed and regulated saloon, the closing of which must have brought many fervent prayers of thanksgiving from you—but the establishment of Open Saloons on every street corner, in every "soft drink" emporium and in every dive and brothel in the red light districts.

Traffic in intoxicating liquors will be virtually unrestricted and attended with new and greater perils to maturing young men and women than were known in the days before the dissolution of the legal partnership between the government and the liquor business.

In solemn contemplation of these things do you, before God, wish to contribute to bring them about?

That is the question you must answer by your vote tomorrow.

Not as a Republican, nor as a Democrat, but as a Mother, as a Wife, as a Sister. Beside these sacred relations all party designations should lose their significance and every appeal, no matter from what source, to give answer to this fateful question that violates the dictates of your conscience, should be made to you in vain.

Ponder these things deeply, prayerfully, as you would derive comfort or endure regret from the first exercise of the priceless privileges you have won in having been enabled by your vote to help make America a better and happier nation.

When you vote for Harding tomorrow, you vote to bring back our government at Washington into normal channels; to replace instability with stability; to uphold integrity at the White House; with cooperation; to put an end to black-jacking business and roving enterprise; to re-establish policies that have the inspiration of American purpose and American principles as we had them rooted in our pristine traditions and glorious constitutions.

Having definitely ascertained the records and sentiments of the candidates for Congress on this matter, so vital to the success or failure of national Prohibition, the issue has published a list of candidates for re-election who stand firmly against any effort to destroy the force of the Volstead Act. Among the candidates so listed is

Samuel A. Kendall, 23rd, Pennsylvania District.

"The voters of their respective districts," says the issue, "are urged to stand by them and see that they are returned for another term of service at Washington."

The name of Bruce F. Sterling does not appear in this list.

"Whether the Volstead Code meets the requirements of carrying out the clear intent of the 18th Amendment or not depends upon Congress," says the issue. "Therefore the responsibility comes right back to the people themselves. The big job of the dry forces this year is to elect a Congress that will not weaken the Volstead code.

"Be sure your ballot is cast for a candidate who is known to be opposed to the so-called beer and wine amendment of the code."

Is Truth Vilification?

The frenzied organs of the "political dynasty" of the 23rd Internal Revenue District are howling pitifully about "the unfairness of the campaign of vilification," so-called, of the candidacy of Bruce F. Sterling.

Here again there is an incorrect use of terms. The information given the voters concerning Sterling's life-long association with the liquor interests, as his attorney, as the political beneficiary of its support in his campaigns, and his responsibility for the delinquencies of his appointees in the 23rd Internal Revenue District; his dependence upon such support in his present effort to be returned to Congress; his known sympathy with the purpose of the liquor interests to elect a "wet" Congress as the first step toward the nullification of the 18th Amendment, have not been denied; cannot be denied; as the personally conducted organs in question well know.

If truth and facts be vilification, then is Bruce Sterling his own defamer.

LEAGUE PLAN, AS A CAMPAIGN ISSUE,
HAS NOT WORKED

Continued from Page One.

Many people believe him a better administrator than Senator Harding but will not vote for him because of their party feeling. Moreover, the Democratic campaign has been unfortunately handled by Governor Cox himself. He should have insisted upon the re-election of Homer Cummings as national chairman because the latter did have some semblance of an organization ready for action the day after the San Francisco convention; and even though Cummings himself might not have been in active charge the effect of depositing him was a serious blow at the morale of the whole Democratic party. It took weeks of precious time to get many Wilson Democrats back into line.

Moreover, although hindsight is better than foresight, many Democrats admit that Governor Cox's talk about a slush fund and efforts to "buy" the presidency may have been based upon proof convincing to themselves but since it was insufficient to prove the Republicans guilty with the public, it should never have been started by the Democratic nominee for the presidency but by his campaign manager or somebody else in the Democratic ranks.

Homer Cummings was the man who wanted the whole campaign pitched on the league issue. George White who has done a wonderful piece of work against heavy odds was not able to learn the ropes and get into action quickly enough to head off the Republican opposition. Moreover, Governor Cox did not soon enough make himself clear on the "wet" question with the Democratic nominee for the presidency but by his campaign manager or somebody else in the Democratic ranks.

Fundamentally there has been another weakness in the Democratic campaign. The desire to re-elect Governor Smith of New York has occupied Tammany more than anything else. Similarly in other states the Democrats have been interested in their own local or Congressional tickets. Indeed, in California, Senator Phelan may be re-elected on the Democratic ticket because he has done nothing to subdue the Harding supporters by any excessive interest in the League of Nations or Governor Cox's candidacy. Senator Johnson's friends are helping Phelan. Other Senators are fighting their own battles too.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The question of control of the Senate is not in doubt but it is a matter of anxiety. Republican delegations from the Marlin, Ohio, whether the majority will be big enough to work comfortably for otherwise Senator Johnson and his followers will be able to build an insurgency similar to that which wrecked the Taft administration.

The whole thing both on the Presidential and Congressional tickets is fundamentally the habit of the American electorate of wanting a change in government every few years, something not altogether peculiar to this republic or people but true of practically all the European peoples since the war. Reconstruction has in some cases been almost as painful as war.

The whole thing both on the Presidential and Congressional tickets is fundamentally the habit of the American electorate of wanting a change in government every few years, something not altogether peculiar to this republic or people but true of practically all the European peoples since the war. Reconstruction has in some cases been almost as painful as war.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

The Senatorial situation is no puzzling and is based upon so many local factors that except for the general statement that the Republicans probably will control the Senate by a majority not much more comfortable than they have had for the past two years, the public will derive little satisfaction out of the pre-election forecasts.

EARLY MORNING FIRE SWEEPS MT. PLEASANT BLOCK

Heavy Damage Caused Despite Desperate Efforts of Firemen.

STARTS IN HARDWARE STORE

Stock is Damaged by Fire, Water and Smoke and Apartments Adjoining Suffer Considerably; Very Little Insurance on the Damaged Property.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 1.—At 3:50 Sunday morning fire was discovered in the rear of the C. G. Berg building on East Main street by Mrs. James Cox who had simplified smoke and started an investigation. The firemen and two trucks quickly responded. The fire had started in the rear of the M. Berger hardware store and had burned through the kitchen of Mrs. Lydia Randolph and the attic and burned a hole through the slate roof. The firemen worked hard and put out the blaze in the center of the building where they fought to save as much of this building as possible and to save the adjoining buildings. The stock of Berger was damaged by fire, water and smoke. The household goods of Mrs. Lydia Randolph and family who live in the building were destroyed, as well as those of Mrs. Edna Myers stored in the wareroom. The household goods of Tony Munson and family were carried out and most of them saved. The stationery store and book store of Al. S. Brooks was damaged by smoke and water. The shoemaker shop of L. Cost was saved. The firemen worked from the call of the first whistle until 8:30 o'clock and during that time Mrs. James Cox served hot coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches to the men.

Very little insurance was carried on any of the goods that was destroyed in the building.

Club Entertained.
Mrs. M. W. Horner was hostess to the members of the Saturday Afternoon Club Saturday afternoon. Papers were read on the Democratic and Socialists platform.

Institute Musicale.
Invitations are out for a faculty reception and musical to be held at the Mount Pleasant Institute Thursday evening, November 4, at 8 o'clock.

On Hunting Trip.
Amy Lentz and daughter, Miss Blanche, have gone to Bedford to visit Mr. Lentz' brother, Martin Lentz, and to hunt. Miss Blanche Lentz is the first woman in this town to take out a hunting license this year.

ON THE JOB
EVERY DAY

Red-Blooded Men and Women Are Seldom Sick.

WATCH YOUR BLOOD CONDITION
If You Look Pale, Feel Drowsy and Run-down, Take Pepto-Mangan and Build Up.

You see, men and women who are never sick. They work hard, look robust, eat heartily and enjoy life. They have plenty of rich, red blood. That is why they are never ill.

People who try to get along with weak, impoverished blood always have a struggle. They go from one sickness to another. Children the same way. If you keep your blood rich and red you'll enjoy full vigor. Disease has little chance to develop in healthy blood. As soon as you feel run-down take Pepto-Mangan for awhile. It will feed your blood with the ingredients needed to create a good supply of red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan is sold in both liquid and tablet form. Take either kind you prefer. They are alike in medicinal value. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package.—Adv.

Vanderbilt.

VANDERBILT, Oct. 29.—Mrs. A. C. Beals of Juniaton was calling at the place yesterday.

Mrs. Emma Boyer of Mount Pleasant was calling on friends here yesterday.

A masquerade party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Stricker Thursday evening by the "Old School Friends."

Paul Dunn of Buena Vista was calling on friends here yesterday.

Fred Brown of near Buena Vista was a business caller here yesterday.

Miss Esther Evans was calling on relatives at Juniaton yesterday.

A dance was held in the Junior hall Friday evening by the Railroad Work confederation.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Porter motored to Scottdale Thursday.

Weigh Yourself
Before Taking

CHASE'S Blood and Nerve Tablets

And See How Much You Gain In Health, Strength and Weight

To convince you that Chase's Blood and Nerve Tablets are one of the best restorative tonics, and that they make solid flesh, muscle and strength when you take them before taking and see what they will do for you. They tend to increase the appetite and digestion and build you up.

They are made by the United Medicinal Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

LOWER PRICE DEMONSTRATION!

Tomorrow We Hold a Mighty Dollar Sale

--Another Powerful Price Lowering Demonstration

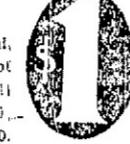

The "Big Store's" Dollar Day in this Price Lowering Demonstration will be a red letter event for those who really want to economize. Just watch the crowd of shrewd shoppers and look at the bargains we offer and you will instantly realize that this movement to bring prices down will be felt throughout every section of Connellsville. The merchandise offered is reasonable and of certified quality and the savings are enormous. Shop here and profit.

NO MAIL OR PHONE ORDERS FOR THESE ITEMS.

30c Standard Apron Gingham, 5 Yds. $1.00.

Assorted light or dark Apron Gingham, checked patterns, standard quality, 27 inches wide, (limit 10 yds.), tomorrow 5 yds. for $1.00.

Yard wide, full gingham, closely woven and of spool-did quality, for all general use, (limit 12 yds.), tomorrow 6 yds. for $1.00.

A standard, well known brand, yard wide, excellent quality for all around use, (limit 10 yds.), tomorrow 5 yds. for $1.00.

Heavy quality in light, medium and dark colors—In checks and plaid, white's, stripes, in checks, stripes, or plain gray, (limit 8 yds.), tomorrow 4 yds. for $1.00.

Boys' Gray Coat Style Sweaters, $1.00.

About 25 Sweaters for boys in gray only, double roll collar, two pockets, worth $2.00, special at $1.00.

30c FINE LUSTROUS SATIN, 2 YARDS FOR 36 inches wide, fine mercerized lisp, choice of pink, white and colors, special for tomorrow 2 yds. for $1.00.

$1.50 LUSTROUS SILK POPLIN, 1 YARD

Yard wide Silk Poplin in black and all wanted Fall colors; a beautiful quality, tomorrow a yard $1.00.

$1.25 MERCERIZED TABLECLOTH, 1 YARD

64 inch snow white Table Damask, in beautiful floral patterns, special tomorrow yard $1.00.

$1.50 COTTON BATTING, 2 LBS. AT

Good clean Comfort Cotton, opens in one full sheet, 72x90, special tomorrow at $1.00.

Men's 20c DRESS HOSE, 6 PAIR FOR Special lot of 20 Dress Hose in colors only, all sizes, special for Dollar Day at 6 pair for $1.00.

Men's 60c HEAVY WOOL HOSE, 2 PAIR FOR

Men's heavy black wool hose, gray heels and toes, always sold at 60c, tomorrow, 2 pair for $1.00.

BOYS' SLIP HEAVY WOOL HOCKEY CAPS, 3 PAIR FOR

Many colors, shapes and weaves to select from, regular $1.10 value, here tomorrow at $1.00.

Men's 20c CANVAS GLOVES, 2 PAIR FOR

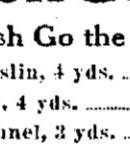

Knit or wrist style, made of heavy canvas, regular 20c value, offered tomorrow at 2 pair for $1.00.

INFANTS' 60c OUTING PETTICOATS, 2 FOR

Infant's 60c Flannel Petticoats in white and striped, excellent qualities, for Dollar Day 2 for $1.00.

INFANTS' 120c OUTING SKIRTS OR GOWNS AT

Infant's pink white Flannelite Petticoats and Gowns, heavy quality, Dollar Day special at $1.00.

INFANTS' 30c CASHMERE HOSE, 3 PAIR FOR

Infant's white Cashmere Hose, regular 30c grade, Dollar Day special 3 pair for $1.00.

WOMEN'S 65c ENVELOPE CHEMISE AT

Women's embroidered lace-trimmed Envelope Chemise regular $1.50 value, special at $1.00.

CHILDREN'S $2.00 VELVET HOODS AT

An assortment of Children's Velvet Hood, $1.50 to $2.00 value, while they last at $1.00.

DRESS GOODS, $1.00 VALUE, 2 YARDS FOR

Choice of rare wool Dress Materials in wanted plaid patterns, for Dollar Day 2 yards for $1.00.

ASKING ALMOST TOO MUCH.

"And so you are not married yet?"

"No."

"Engaged?"

"No."

"What's the matter?"

"Well, papa says that my husband must be a keen and experienced man, of good health and good habits; mamma says that he must be frugal, industrious and attentive; and I say he must be handsome, dashing, talented and rich. We are still looking for him!"—Story Stories.

No Fuel Problem Here.

The French town of Chaudes-

Ans, in the Alpine mountains, its population of 2,600, probably is the only place outside the tropical and sub-tropical zones where the heating of homes is no problem, the scorching of the sun is not a problem,

the cost of fuel is not a problem,

the cost of labor is not a problem,

the cost of transportation is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is not a problem, the cost of labor is

The Sporting World

FLUKE TOUCHDOWN GIVES SCOTTDALE 7-0 VICTORY OVER CONNELLSVILLE HI.

Fate Turns Miserable Attempt at Placement Into Touchdown For Visitors.

COKERS PLAY BEST GAME

A deer tick of fate defeated Connellsville in the football game with the Scottsdale last Saturday when after the Cokers had thrown the visitors for losses while the ball was within 10 yards of the goal, an attempted placement was turned into a score.

For a time both teams had battled in the middle of the field. Scottsdale expecting to sweep the Cokers from their feet found a steady defense. Finally the ball was Scottdale's on the 10-yard line in the fourth succeeding down. The visitors were thrown back five yards. The team lined up for a place kick. The kick filled miserably but as the ball went through the Cokers team it struck McIninch, crowning his head and hitting the fence, some 30 yards farther back. No one seemed to move for an instant and then Byrne, Scottdale end, hit the ball. As the ball had hit McIninch it came into play according to the rule, and when Byrne fell in it, the touch down resulted. Scottdale kicked goal.

The Cokers were dumbfounded. Things had looked so bright for the Cokers, but then the Scottdale never let go back the ball, everyone was jarred by the sudden turn of fate which gave the Cokers a score.

In straight football playing the Connellsville team showed itself superior to the visitors. Only a few times were the Connellsville backs stopped for losses but the local ends often got in and grabbed an opposing runner in his tracks.

In the first and last quarters the Cokers literally rushed the Scottdale team from its feet. The other two periods of the game were more or bitter struggling with both teams punting.

In the second quarter, showing a dash of strength the Cokers pushed Scottdale back to the four-yard line. On the first down Connellsville was penalized 15 yards for pushing. This distance could not be regained and that opportunity for a score was ruined. Never did Scottdale show sufficient strength to get past the 20-yard line.

Both teams had a strong line but while the Scottdale backs were much larger than the Connellsville runners they didn't run more ground.

In the 4th quarter McIninch broke away for 24 yards and it looked as though he were off for a touchdown. With interference he sifted through the entire Scottdale secondary defense using the star man to advantage. Hume playing safety made the tackle after McIninch had cleared two of the 10-yard lines. Shortly afterward J. Gordon intercepted a pass for Scottdale and the ball was headed in the opposite direction again. The ball hit the ground.

CONNELLSVILLE, SCOTTDALE CONNELLSVILLE — 1. T. O. Gordon Sine — J. T. F. Noon Mouton — L. — Keenens O'Donnell — C. — Stoen Wyle R. G. McGrogan

PUT SCRIBES RIGHT

They pull them in the major and in the minors and you can not call them back. References made to the fan counting when a man who has held third scores after a late while a runner on some other base is put out for leaving his base too soon. Jack Keim old enough to know better wouldn't count such a run in a Southern League game and when the same was protested President Martin upheld the umpire. And at the polo grounds on August 26 the wise guys of the press box lined up a run that none in such play by the umpires set the wise and New York leaned the wise comeing the score the next day.

Tomaska R. T. Lester Stevson J. E. F. Byrnes Seiverson — Q. B. J. Gordon Wilson — L. H. Major McNeely R. H. Hume Hodder J. B. Murphy Substitutions—Ross for Nold, Nold for Ross, McNamee for Whoppey, Bush for Nedick, Cleau for Murphy, Pouchdown—Byrne Referee—Feltman Captain—Boone Lineups—Shadie

LADIES SHOW SCOTTDALE WAS NOT PLAYED BY THE COKERS Figures show the Connellsville played the better game in the clash with Scottsdale Saturday. The Cokers scored seven tries down in the center to five while the ground gained and lost by each team are compiled from notes taken on each play by each ten a representative of the Scottdale aggregation taking the same figures.

The totals show that in the first half Scottdale gained 109½ yards. To this figure compare a total of 88 yards for Connellsville. Anyone who saw the first part of the game however acknowledges that the Cokers put up a man obviously out of the play involving the forward passes. It considers unnecessary touchbacks if committed after passes have been made. The point out is abolished and the side touching touchdown in any part of field may bring ball out straight in front of goal for the try or goal, both ref and linesman are charged with duty of watching and in nothing by foul ball be put into play and player making a shift must have both feet stationary after he has come to his position. Abortion of play will be completed when he has reported to persons official and change has been made. Time on incomplete forward will be taken out until play starts again in case of a penalty. The starting signal referee may do this but it is done again.

FEW CHANGES IN 1920 CODE

Gridiron Rules Undergo Silent Alterations for This Season—Brief Summary Given

The principal changes in the 1920 football rules may be summarized as follows: Clipping is abolished whether or not the ball is in motion and a man obviously out of the play involving the forward passes. It considers unnecessary touchbacks if committed after passes have been made. The point out is abolished and the side touching touchdown in any part of field may bring ball out straight in front of goal for the try or goal, both ref and linesman are charged with duty of watching and in nothing by foul ball be put into play and player making a shift must have both feet stationary after he has come to his position. Abortion of play will be completed when he has reported to persons official and change has been made. Time on incomplete forward will be taken out until play starts again in case of a penalty. The starting signal referee may do this but it is done again.

PREPARING TO RACE IN AIR

Transcontinental Aerial Touring Contracts Planned From New York to San Francisco

The transcontinental aerial touring contracts from New York to San Francisco and New York to Los Angeles have been changed to cross circuit contracts by the new contest committee of the Aero Club of America and Major Charles T. Geddes are head of the Aero League of the West. He has telegraphed the president of the Aero Club of Southern California at Los Angeles that the contests will be conducted by the Virtual League of America in 1921 for cash prizes. The contests will be open to all aviators in the world including some 20,000 in the United States, and will be under rules similar to those governing automobile contests for cross country touring making them safe and safe.

One of the linesmen, called Miner, believed he was from Pittsburgh at the opening of the game when Scottdale was making a point showing against the Cokers. After the touchdown had been scored in the second quarter however he made no bones about the fact that he was a Mid Town sympathizer.

Hume didn't run a single time with the ball in the first quarter. When he

MAYOR RESTORES BOXING

Boxing at private clubs, which has been under a ban in Manila for more than six months, again is flourishing the ban having been removed by Mayor Ramon Fernandez. The mayor has issued temporary license to a club which conducts the matches, and he said that as soon as the management changes the by laws suggested by the actor next he will grant a permanent license. The membership fee of the club is $500 a year. There is a large membership.

PITCHERS LIKE MAYS ARE NEVER RELIABLE

Case of Jack Chesbro Cited to Excuse Yankee Hurler.

Some American League Players Ascertained New York Twirler Beamed Chapman Intentionally—First Fatal Accident.

There is a controversy on in the two leagues as to the exact position Mays holds in connection with the death of Ray Chapman.

Some of the players claim that Mays beamed Chapman intentionally and that he should be barred from the major leagues forever in consequence of his act.

There have been more than fifty years of professional baseball and in all that time there has been but one fatal field incident.

This is a rare and singular case. In baseball but with no after effects and time and again players have been injured by the pitch.

But with all these accidents in the 65 years there has been but this one fatal accident.

For my part I put the sole incident in the accident column and will let it go at that. I do not even further than that and cite an instance to the effect that a pitcher or an after-handled pitch or an after-handled contact to the ball writer Al Smith in Glendale, Calif.

In the year 1901 Dick Chesbro then called the Iron Man without the city and out and split his left hand in two. He had a 115 duty of watching and in nothing by foul ball be put into play and player making a shift must have both feet stationary after he has come to his position. Abortion of play will be completed when he has reported to persons official and change has been made. Time on incomplete forward will be taken out until play starts again in case of a penalty. The starting signal referee may do this but it is done again.

Carl Mays

The Dark Mirror

by
Louis Joseph Vance
*Author of "The False Faces,"
"The Little Wolf," Etc.*
Illustrated by
E. W. MYERS
(Caricature by the Author)

"I like it immensely, only . . . I can't get over an odd notion that it isn't

"I Can't Get Over an Odd Notion That It Isn't You."

you. The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

Frankly took a quick step to her spring. "Cilla!" She seemed not to hear. He said in sharp insistence. "Do you hear Cilla? Come out of it!" That broke the spell. Sighing softly, she drew a hand across her eyes, then with an uncertain smile extended it to him. Philip clasped it between his own.

"Now what?" he demanded with brusque good humor.

"I've had the funniest sensation . . . I was thinking about the painting, wondering if, perhaps, I'd done something extraordinary and wild, ruined my own soul into the figure on the canvas—you know—so that it really lived and was me while I was merely a shell of flesh and blood . . . and suddenly it seemed to me my fancy had come true, that I was really there on the canvas looking into the room here, seeing myself, I mean seeing Priscilla Malone, and wondering about her and about you, as if I'd never known either of us if I were a stranger in my own studio . . . Do you understand, Philip? It must sound so wild and silly . . . What was it, Philip? What made me feel that way?"

"Auto-hypnosis—a mild phase—super-induced by excitement and fretting. Nothing to worry about. And still . . .

Frankly didn't like it. I wouldn't care to have it happen too frequently. It's no good cheapening that sort of thing; each time it happens it breaks down resistance, makes you only the more susceptible to the next suggestion. If I were you, I'd drop that portrait, put it out of sight and mind till we've settled the darkened room again, after which she soon went to sleep.

"Perhaps you're right," Priscilla murmured, "but I don't know it makes me unhappy to have unfinished work on hand. Don't you think I might bet-

The "Greatest Mother" concept which was visualized in the famous poster used by the American Red Cross in its second world war campaign has had its symbolism adopted to the New Crosses of the post-war era and illustrated on the walls of our home to be used in the Fourth Bell Call November 11, 1920. This adaptation will bear the title "Still the Greatest Mother in the World." Everyone is familiar with the original "The Greatest Mother in the World," the effectiveness of which has been shown in part by the fact that it has furnished a synonym for Red Cross that has come to almost a household term. More than any other symbol except the red cross itself, the poster has made it the trademark of the American Red Cross.

her finish it up, and get it out of the studio altogether?" But Philip's die approval was manifest. "Please!" she begged her painter. "It only means another day or two; then I can let darkness have it and forget all about it."

"I can't say yes, Cilla. I shouldn't be at all surprised if it turned out that the portrait was wholly to blame for last night's experience. I mean for the peculiar content and trend of your dream."

"The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

Frankly took a quick step to her spring. "Cilla!" She seemed not to hear. He said in sharp insistence. "Do you hear Cilla? Come out of it!" That broke the spell. Sighing softly, she drew a hand across her eyes, then with an uncertain smile extended it to him. Philip clasped it between his own.

"Now what?" he demanded with brusque good humor.

"I've had the funniest sensation . . . I was thinking about the painting, wondering if, perhaps, I'd done something extraordinary and wild, ruined my own soul into the figure on the canvas—you know—so that it really lived and was me while I was merely a shell of flesh and blood . . . and suddenly it seemed to me my fancy had come true, that I was really there on the canvas looking into the room here, seeing myself, I mean seeing Priscilla Malone, and wondering about her and about you, as if I'd never known either of us if I were a stranger in my own studio . . . Do you understand, Philip? It must sound so wild and silly . . . What was it, Philip? What made me feel that way?"

"Auto-hypnosis—a mild phase—super-induced by excitement and fretting. Nothing to worry about. And still . . .

Frankly didn't like it. I wouldn't care to have it happen too frequently. It's no good cheapening that sort of thing; each time it happens it breaks down resistance, makes you only the more susceptible to the next suggestion. If I were you, I'd drop that portrait, put it out of sight and mind till we've settled the darkened room again, after which she soon went to sleep.

"Perhaps you're right," Priscilla murmured, "but I don't know it makes me unhappy to have unfinished work on hand. Don't you think I might bet-her finish it up, and get it out of the studio altogether?" But Philip's die approval was manifest. "Please!" she begged her painter. "It only means another day or two; then I can let darkness have it and forget all about it."

"I can't say yes, Cilla. I shouldn't be at all surprised if it turned out that the portrait was wholly to blame for last night's experience. I mean for the peculiar content and trend of your dream."

"The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

Frankly took a quick step to her spring. "Cilla!" She seemed not to hear. He said in sharp insistence. "Do you hear Cilla? Come out of it!" That broke the spell. Sighing softly, she drew a hand across her eyes, then with an uncertain smile extended it to him. Philip clasped it between his own.

"Now what?" he demanded with brusque good humor.

"I've had the funniest sensation . . . I was thinking about the painting, wondering if, perhaps, I'd done something extraordinary and wild, ruined my own soul into the figure on the canvas—you know—so that it really lived and was me while I was merely a shell of flesh and blood . . . and suddenly it seemed to me my fancy had come true, that I was really there on the canvas looking into the room here, seeing myself, I mean seeing Priscilla Malone, and wondering about her and about you, as if I'd never known either of us if I were a stranger in my own studio . . . Do you understand, Philip? It must sound so wild and silly . . . What was it, Philip? What made me feel that way?"

"Auto-hypnosis—a mild phase—super-induced by excitement and fretting. Nothing to worry about. And still . . .

Frankly didn't like it. I wouldn't care to have it happen too frequently. It's no good cheapening that sort of thing; each time it happens it breaks down resistance, makes you only the more susceptible to the next suggestion. If I were you, I'd drop that portrait, put it out of sight and mind till we've settled the darkened room again, after which she soon went to sleep.

"Perhaps you're right," Priscilla murmured, "but I don't know it makes me unhappy to have unfinished work on hand. Don't you think I might bet-her finish it up, and get it out of the studio altogether?" But Philip's die approval was manifest. "Please!" she begged her painter. "It only means another day or two; then I can let darkness have it and forget all about it."

"I can't say yes, Cilla. I shouldn't be at all surprised if it turned out that the portrait was wholly to blame for last night's experience. I mean for the peculiar content and trend of your dream."

"The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

Frankly took a quick step to her spring. "Cilla!" She seemed not to hear. He said in sharp insistence. "Do you hear Cilla? Come out of it!" That broke the spell. Sighing softly, she drew a hand across her eyes, then with an uncertain smile extended it to him. Philip clasped it between his own.

"Now what?" he demanded with brusque good humor.

"I've had the funniest sensation . . . I was thinking about the painting, wondering if, perhaps, I'd done something extraordinary and wild, ruined my own soul into the figure on the canvas—you know—so that it really lived and was me while I was merely a shell of flesh and blood . . . and suddenly it seemed to me my fancy had come true, that I was really there on the canvas looking into the room here, seeing myself, I mean seeing Priscilla Malone, and wondering about her and about you, as if I'd never known either of us if I were a stranger in my own studio . . . Do you understand, Philip? It must sound so wild and silly . . . What was it, Philip? What made me feel that way?"

"Auto-hypnosis—a mild phase—super-induced by excitement and fretting. Nothing to worry about. And still . . .

Frankly didn't like it. I wouldn't care to have it happen too frequently. It's no good cheapening that sort of thing; each time it happens it breaks down resistance, makes you only the more susceptible to the next suggestion. If I were you, I'd drop that portrait, put it out of sight and mind till we've settled the darkened room again, after which she soon went to sleep.

"Perhaps you're right," Priscilla murmured, "but I don't know it makes me unhappy to have unfinished work on hand. Don't you think I might bet-her finish it up, and get it out of the studio altogether?" But Philip's die approval was manifest. "Please!" she begged her painter. "It only means another day or two; then I can let darkness have it and forget all about it."

"I can't say yes, Cilla. I shouldn't be at all surprised if it turned out that the portrait was wholly to blame for last night's experience. I mean for the peculiar content and trend of your dream."

"The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

Frankly took a quick step to her spring. "Cilla!" She seemed not to hear. He said in sharp insistence. "Do you hear Cilla? Come out of it!" That broke the spell. Sighing softly, she drew a hand across her eyes, then with an uncertain smile extended it to him. Philip clasped it between his own.

"Now what?" he demanded with brusque good humor.

"I've had the funniest sensation . . . I was thinking about the painting, wondering if, perhaps, I'd done something extraordinary and wild, ruined my own soul into the figure on the canvas—you know—so that it really lived and was me while I was merely a shell of flesh and blood . . . and suddenly it seemed to me my fancy had come true, that I was really there on the canvas looking into the room here, seeing myself, I mean seeing Priscilla Malone, and wondering about her and about you, as if I'd never known either of us if I were a stranger in my own studio . . . Do you understand, Philip? It must sound so wild and silly . . . What was it, Philip? What made me feel that way?"

"Auto-hypnosis—a mild phase—super-induced by excitement and fretting. Nothing to worry about. And still . . .

Frankly didn't like it. I wouldn't care to have it happen too frequently. It's no good cheapening that sort of thing; each time it happens it breaks down resistance, makes you only the more susceptible to the next suggestion. If I were you, I'd drop that portrait, put it out of sight and mind till we've settled the darkened room again, after which she soon went to sleep.

"Perhaps you're right," Priscilla murmured, "but I don't know it makes me unhappy to have unfinished work on hand. Don't you think I might bet-her finish it up, and get it out of the studio altogether?" But Philip's die approval was manifest. "Please!" she begged her painter. "It only means another day or two; then I can let darkness have it and forget all about it."

"I can't say yes, Cilla. I shouldn't be at all surprised if it turned out that the portrait was wholly to blame for last night's experience. I mean for the peculiar content and trend of your dream."

"The likeness is extraordinary—I remember well the night you were that costume—and yet, somehow . . .

"You see it, too?" Philip turned to her with a sharp glance. She laughed unconsciously. "I didn't myself till last night, after I'd waked up. Then with the dream fresh and real in my thoughts, I saw it painted not myself but that other Self. The girl you see there isn't Priscilla Malone, nor the Priscilla you and I know; she's Leonora."

"Good Lord!" Philip looked gravely. "Were you thinking of her while painting?"

"No—not consciously, not that I remember."

"And yet, without your knowledge, you must have been."

He moved nearer the picture to examine it more closely.

"It brings everything back so clear as that girl makes me give me the stronger feeling of unlikeness, makes me wonder which is which, which the bluer woman which the shadow . . .

The voice behind him trailed off into a people murmur. He made a movement of expectation and—simultaneously becoming conscious of the stillness, looked round to see the girl poised in a static pose, strength at the portrait, her look dull and remote—but thrown back a trifle, hands hanging with palms exposed in a gesture curiously appealing, her respiration abnormally slow and deep.

&lt;p

STATE'S CITIES OF THIRD CLASS
HAVE 1,041 COPS

Cost, with Two Counties Not Reported, is Shown to Be $1,607,080.

CONNELLSVILLE, $5,320

Special to The Courier.
HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Third-class cities of Pennsylvania this year are employing 1,041 policemen to protect the 1,234,264 citizens of those cities, according to compilations made to the Bureau of Municipalities in the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward by J. Herman Knisely, chief of the bureau.

The figures, based on reports made to the Department of Internal Affairs by the 31 third-class cities in the state, show that taking the cities as a whole, each policeman protects 1,205 persons. This average, however, is not maintained in the individual cities, for the records show that in Dubois the population per policeman is 3,420 while in Erie there is one policeman to every 805 residents.

Although Erie is the second of the third-class cities in population, it employs the highest number of members on the police force, the records showing 115 names. Reading, the largest of the third-class cities, has 105 policemen and police officers. Corry, Titusville, Lock Haven and Dubois each employ four policemen.

From the reports received, Erie, Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre, Chester and McKeesport appear to be the best policed cities in the third-class group, for the figures show that there is a policeman for less than every 1,000 persons in those cities.

Appropriations for police purposes made in the third-class cities, with the exceptions of Pottsville and Duquesne, total $1,607,080. The per capita cost per policeman this year is lowest, 41 cents, in Dubois, where there is one policeman for each 3,420 of population. The highest per capita, $1.93, is found in Wilkes-Barre, where there is a policeman for every 839 residents. The reports indicate, too, that the per capita cost is higher in the manufacturing cities and industrial centers than in the other communities.

Tabulations made this year by the Bureau of Municipalities also show the number of arrests made and the amount of fines collected in the various cities last year. The reports show that in all the cities, with the exception of New Castle, Sharon, Carbondale and Bradford, a total of 33,614 persons were arrested for various offenses. Fines collected in third-class cities, excepting Lancaster, New Castle, Carbondale and Bradford, amounted to $181,671.

A table showing the amount of fines collected last year, the number of arrests made during 1919, the population per policeman and the per capita cost of maintaining police systems includes the following:

	POLICE ARRESTS	POP. COST
Johnstown	22,892	4,426 1,181 $1.53
McKeesport	19,150	2,377 958 1.76
Uniontown	7,671	3,028 1,215 1.37
Connellsville	5,320	1,035 1,215 1.27
Monongahela	2,347	476 1,738 .79

Growing Roses in France.

The French farmers set their bushes in rows about four feet apart on the grassy slope of the hills, and, so far as is possible, where they have a southeastern exposure. Young shoots are taken from five-year-old bushes, and, when they have grown, they are transplanted to about a foot in height and such buds as appear are picked off, to preserve the vitality in the bush and to assure a large crop for the second year.

After the bush attains the age of seven years, it does not produce the quantity or quality of oil, so it is pulled up and a new one planted to its place. The rose harvest begins in April, runs through May and June.

Water Stored in Form of Ice.

With the idea of getting away from the expensive construction of dams for the purpose of storing water, the suggestion has been made that the water be stored in winter in the shape of ice and allowed to melt as it may be desired in summer time. This would insure water in sufficient quantities for small irrigation systems at least and certainly would cut down the expense of storing. In addition to this, it would afford work for a certain class of labor which usually is not occupied at this season of the year.

DICKERSON RUN.

DICKERSON RUN, Oct. 29.—John Francis of Glassport was a business caller here yesterday.

Elmer Larson of Aikton, O., is spending a few days here visiting his brother, Elmer Larson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gillespie and Mrs. James Beatty were calling on Connellsville friends last evening.

Leonard Koffler was a Connellsville business caller yesterday.

James Beatty and W. R. Keffer were business callers at Uniontown last evening.

Harry Lint and son Clarence have returned to their home at Lookout Farm after spending a week visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Bowman at Confluence.

One Bid Rejected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Only one bid rejected. Hog Island shipyard and offer of $4,000,000 was received today by the Shipping Board. Chairman Benson announced the bid would bid for the Hog Island shipyards, built at a cost to the government of approximately $70,000,000; covers 945 acres with a water frontage of two miles.

Hunting Bargains!

If so, read our advertising columns, you will find them.

LATTER DATE, BANQUET

Suggestive programs are being laid by the Fayette County Sunday School Association for the fourth annual Father and Son celebration, Sunday, November 14, has been designated as the date for holding the special services and Tuesday, the 16th, for the fellowship banquet. However, should these particular dates prove inconvenient, any others could be substituted. Pastors and superintendents who have followed out the observance of this celebration in the spirit of the undertaking are loud in praise of the helpful interest thereby engendered. The general plan includes sermons by the pastor to parents and to boys, the boys assisting as largely as possible in conducting the Sunday school session, and a banquet and social session for men and boys.

It is suggested that the men's Bible classes get-back of the collaboration. Each school will be provided with one of these programs which they can use through their district young people's superintendents. They will also be provided with blanks calling for a report which should be forwarded to the county young people's superintendent. Rev. A. F. Hanes of South Brownsville, who is very desirous that every school in the county should enjoy the benefits of a successful celebration.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production. The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web. The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Henry Sturgis and Mrs. J. R. Vance, his sister, left Saturday morning for Enid, Oklahoma, the former's home. It takes two days to make the trip.

Solomon Kreps of Uniontown was a business caller here Friday.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.

MONDAY-TUESDAY.

Alice Joyce has a strong emotional role in "The Prey," a special production.

The plot is woven around a young society girl whose father and brother become entangled in a financial web.

The girl makes a great sacrifice to save her brother from prison and learns that she has married the wrong man.

Will Show Election Returns on the Screen.